ONCE AGAIN, BERMATEX PASSES THE TEST!

A leader in the development and production of synthetic filament yarn for the textile industry, Bermatex Inc. recently added a new achievement to its already well-established track record.

On April 21, 2005, Bermatex once again passed the audits related to its ISO 9001:2000 certification without a single non-conformity.

"In addition to our self-imposed standards that are the most stringent in the industry, ISO 9001:2000 certification is proof that our product quality is consistent with the highest standards, and that our customers are justified in having confidence in us," stated Mr. Mathias Berlinger, President of this dynamic company located in Montmagny, Quebec. "ISO 9001:2000 certification enables us to demonstrate that Bermatex manufactures quality products we have a right to be proud of and contribute to establishing our excellent reputation with industry at the local level as well as on world markets."

Bermatex creates, develops and markets numerous products through the application of innovative technologies. The yarns developed by this Quebec manufacturer are exported to the United States and other foreign markets. They are then used to produce fabrics with specific technical characteristics for the manufacture of clothing and accessories with high added value.
